

Q: I have a residential sublease; does that mean the land is in trust?

A: Not necessarily. Residential leasing is not exclusive to Indian trust lands. In fact, developers in the Coachella Valley and elsewhere have purchased land in fee, developed the property, and then leased the property to homeowners.

When a residential lease encumbers fee land the Bureau of Indian Affairs does not have jurisdiction.